Crucial steps remain

Texas team caps North Sea geyser

STAVANGER, Norway (AP) — A Texas well-capping team today stopped the eight-day-old geyser of oil that has spewed millions of gallons of oil into the North Sea, but officials said crucial steps remained before the well would be "killed."

"We have confirmation that the rams have closed off the well and are holding," a Phillips spokesman told reporters. "The team is now bolting a four-ton safety valve on top of the assembly."

Rams are metal discs which close together in the pipe to stop the flow. They shut off the flow while the huge stopper is attached. Mud from a nearby barge is then pumped into the hole via a hose.

When the pressure of the well reaches zero, it can be officially described as killed.

"We are not completely out of danger until the process is completed and we have pumped mud down the well to kill it," said spokesman C. W. Lane said. "But I see plenty of smiles around our offices."

Oil had been spurting more than 60 feet in the air from the runaway Bravo 14 well, operated by Phillips Petroleum Co. 168 miles southwest of here.

Four attempts to plug the well Thursday and Friday failed when clamps closed off the flow for a few seconds only to be forced open by the pressure, estimated to be 4,000 pounds per square inch.

The flow was shut off at 6:05 a.m. EDT today after gushing since 5:30 p.m. April 22. It spilled about 1.2 million gallons of oil a day for a total of about 8.23 million gallons.

The spill created a 70-by-60-mile oil slick in the North Sea but officials said some of the oil evaporated or was broken up by wave action and there was little ecological damage thus far.

Famed Texas well-killer Paul "Red" Adair arrived here Friday afternoon to give support to his technical team on the rig. He spent the night aboard the barge Choctaw II, a few yards from the oil platform. He was believed to have been aboard the rig when the capping operation began.

Adair was working with colleagues "Boots" Hansen and Richard "Toots" Hatteberg as well as a crew from Phillips.

Adair said he had seen "a lot bigger and rougher" wells and predicted Friday the Bravo 14 gusher would be stopped in a few days.

The Phillips spokesman said rams that were reworked in Stavanger were used to staunch the gushing oil and gas that was escaping at supersonic speeds from the well 10,000-feet deep in the seabed.

He said new reinforced "blind rams," were en route from California but had not arrived.

Two types of rams had been tried. Pipe rams to reduce the flow of oil so that the stopper could be put in place and blind rams that shut off the flow completely.

The pipe rams failed Friday and previous attempts with the blind rams also had been unsuccessful in stopping the gusher. The operation is similar to placing a nozzle on a spurting garden hose.

New tax tables created

Senate approves tax cut measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-passed tax bill would save money for 47 million taxpayers who use the standard deduction and make the task of filling out tax forms a little easier for nearly everyone.

"Most people will be able to do their (tax) returns for themselves for a change," Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the Finance Committee, told reporters Friday after the Senate passed the bill.

A key part of the bill would simplify tax returns, creating new tax tables that would allow 96 per cent of taxpayers to figure their taxes with a minimum of mathematical computations.

The 76 per cent expected to take the standard deduction would need no math at all.

The bill, which started out as the basic element of President Carter's plan for stimulating the economy, was passed 73 to 7 and sent to a conference with the House.

Missing from the measure are the $50-per-person rebates that Carter proposed in January and then disavowed two weeks ago.

That left the bill with these major features:

—Increased standard deductions for all couples filing joint returns, all heads of households (generally, divorced or widowed women with children) and most single persons. This would mean a tax cut averaging $121 for 47 million couples or individuals who do not itemize deductions. Ninety-two per cent of the benefits would go to families or persons with incomes under $20,000.

For a family of four earning $10,000, the reduction would be $205. A single person earning $10,000 would pay $110 less in taxes.

The higher deductions would mean less taxes would be withheld from workers' paychecks starting June 1.

Present law allows a person who does not itemize to lower his taxable income by 16 per cent, but not less than $1,700 and not more than $2,400. For a couple filing a joint return, the standard deduction ranges from $2,100 to $2,800. The bill would allow single persons a flat standard deduction of $2,200; couples would get $3,200.

Because the current maximum $2,400 standard deduction for single persons would be cut to $2,200, 1.7 million single persons who earn more than $13,750 would face a tax increase averaging $50.

—Extension through 1978 of two individual and one business tax cut that were first enacted in 1975. These are: a $35-per-person tax credit, or a credit of 2 per cent on the first $9,000 of taxable income; a credit of up to $400 a year for poor working families, and reduced corporate tax rates aimed at helping small business.

—A new credit of $250 — which would be subtracted directly from taxes owed — for a person who keeps a dependent over 65 years of age in his home.

—Increased incentives for business to fight the recession.

A firm would be allowed the option of a 12 per cent tax credit (up from the current 10 per cent) to partially offset the cost of machinery and equipment, or a credit of up to $1,806 for each new worker hired over the next 17 months.

Coffee Break . . .

TAXPAYERS who keep good records during the entire year will be better prepared to file a complete and accurate tax return, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

By keeping good financial records the taxpayer can not only substantiate expenses, income and itemized deductions that might otherwise be overlooked.

Taxpayers are not required to keep any particular type of records, but they must retain all receipts, cancelled checks, bills, and other written documents to prove their expenses, the IRS said.

These records must be kept for at least three years from the date that the return was due or filed, or two years from the date that the tax was paid, whichever occurs later.

Some records should be kept even longer, the IRS advised, such as property records which should be retained as long as they are useful in determining the basis of the original or replacement property. . . In addition, copies of past tax returns can help the taxpayer prepare future returns. . .

BALLOONS WITH special tags attached will be launched from three Fayette County schools in two weeks. . . The balloons are part of a fund-raising drive sponsored by the Union Township Parent-Teacher Organization. . .

Each balloon will carry a tag, which is sold for 50 cents by students at Chaffin, Wilson, and Eber schools through May 6. . . The tags will bear student's names with instructions for the finders to send the tags back to Fayette County. . . A $25 savings bond

CONSERVATION PROJECT — Norilee Zimmerman, a second grade teacher at Chaffin Elementary School, thought it would be a good experience for her students to take part in a conservation project. So, she requested, and was granted, two mallard ducks from the Dayton Museum of Natural History. The two ducks, which have been nicknamed "Bert and Ernie" after the Sesame Street characters, have been at Chaffin Elementary School since they were two days old, which was four weeks ago. They will remain in the classroom for another two weeks at which time they'll be returned to Dayton. Mrs. Zimmerman said there is presently great concern over the mallard species which is rather scarce in Ohio. The children have the responsibility of watering Bert and Ernie and making sure they have plenty of feed, which is supplied by the McDonald and Son elevator. Mrs. Zimmerman said the class observes the ducks, takes pictures of them, writes stories about them and often, reads to them. Once in awhile, the ducks fall asleep while being read to, which upsets the children.

Sighting of UFO by Carter probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Oklahoma man who has spent years trying to prove the existence of Unidentified Flying Objects has a prize exhibit to show skeptics: a report Jimmy Carter filed as governor of Georgia on his observation of a UFO.

Heddon Hewes, director of the International UFO Bureau in Oklahoma, said Carter sent him the handwritten report on request in 1973 after Hewes read newspaper accounts of Carter's experience.

Carter and 10 members of the Lions Club of Leary, Ga. saw an object "bright as the moon," in October 1969, Carter wrote.

Carter described the unidentified object as "bluish at first, then reddish, then luminous but not solid," Hewes said today in a telephone interview from Oklahoma City.

Carter, who was preparing to speak to the club, said the object was visible for 10 or 12 minutes, "came close then moved away" and changed shape, Hewes said.

Hewes, who at age 33 has been working with unexplained phenomena for 20 years, said Carter's sighting was not "fantastic or extraordinary" since it spawned neither concrete evidence nor contact with the UFO.

Carter reported the same incident to the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena in Kensington, Md.

Both groups sent him forms in 1973 after he was quoted publicly as saying he no longer laughed at people who claim to have seen UFOs because "I've seen one myself."

When the subject arose during the presidential campaign last year, Carter laughed it off with a one-liner: "I think it was a light beckoning me to run in the California primary."

But he admitted he'd seen a light which "appeared and disappeared in the sky." He did not call it an Unidentified Flying Object.

Although Carter cooperated by filling out the forms, he refused Hewes' telephone calls to the governor's mansion.

Hewes wrote Carter in January asking to meet with him in the White House to discuss UFOs, but his only answer was a form letter saying the President was too busy to respond.

President backs wiretap curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will seek legislation giving federal judges the power to block government wiretapping and bugging of American citizens suspected of spying for foreign powers.

Carter has rejected the claim that a president has inherent constitutional power to authorize such eavesdropping in extraordinary circumstances regardless of legislative restrictions, administration officials said Friday.

The officials discussed the proposal on condition that they not be identified because they want more time to explain it to members of Congress before announcing it officially.

The President's decision to abandon that claim is one of the most significant features of the legislative proposal the administration plans to offer Congress next week.

Former President Gerald R. Ford sought congressional approval of a similar bill requiring court warrants for taps and bugs used to gather intelligence on foreign spies.

But Ford's bill contained a provision reserving "the constitutional power of the President to order electronic surveillance" without court warrants.

Former Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, who pushed hard for that bill, said the provision was included only to allow a president to take extraordinary measures to protect the country against overwhelming dangers.

But critics said a president could use that provision as a way to evade legislative restrictions and use taps and bugs at will.

The proposal died in the last Congress, and Levi called the failure his greatest disappointment as attorney general.

Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell and other administration officials now have refined the legislation in hopes of ending congressional opposition.

Like the Ford administration bill, the Carter proposal would require the chief justice of the Supreme Court to designate seven federal district judges to review the attorney general's requests to use electronic surveillance against suspected foreign spies.

Such taps and bugs now must have the attorney general's approval, but no court warrants are required.

The bill would require court warrants for taps and bugs against foreigners with diplomatic credentials and other visiting aliens as well as U.S. citizens and permanent resident aliens, officials said.

But it would be easier for the government to get warrants for spying on aliens and on foreign intelligence agencies in this country.

To get warrants for spying on a U.S. citizen or resident alien, the attorney general would have to convince the judge that five conditions existed:

—That the person had knowingly become an agent of a foreign power.

—That he was acting at the direction of a foreign power.

—That he was transmitting information to a foreign power.

—That he was using secret means to transmit the information.

—And that the disclosure of the information to the foreign power endangered U.S. security or foreign policy.

Carter urges small auto rebates effective Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter wants people to be eligible starting Sunday for cash rebates for buying small, economical cars, but his proposed tax on low-mileage cars won't be imposed until Congress passes the legislation.

Carter included that request in the formal legislative proposals he sent to Congress on Friday.

Although car buyers would be eligible as of May 1, they still would have to wait for Congress to pass the plan to collect the rebates.

The rebates would range up to $473 on cars that get more than 39 miles per gallon. A car that gets at least 19 mpg would carry a $47 rebate.

White House energy adviser James R. Schlesinger told reporters that the President wanted to make the rebate plan retroactive to persuade people not to hold off buying smaller cars until Congress acts.

Schlesinger said, however, that the President was not asking to make the gas-guzzler tax retroactive because it would be too difficult — and possibly illegal — to collect on that basis.

At first the steepest tax would be $449 on an auto getting less than 13 mpg. But under Carter's plan, the tax on gas-guzzlers would rise to nearly $2,500 by 1985, with maximum rebates of $499.

Carter's plan, details of which were revealed earlier, also calls for a standby gasoline tax that would be applied in annual five-cent increments, beginning in 1979, for each year that U.S.

gasoline consumption exceeded a specified federal target — up to a maximum of 50 cents a gallon.

The program, which congressional leaders say faces an uphill fight, would also allow domestic oil prices to rise to world-market levels through a new tax, increase natural gas prices by about 20 per cent, tax industrial use of natural gas and oil as a boiler fuel and offer homeowners tax breaks for insulation and solar energy devices.

Schlesinger estimated that the government would collect $72 billion in new energy taxes between now and 1985, with all but $7 billion returned to the public in rebates and various tax credits.

Although the White House submitted the program Friday afternoon, both houses had recessed for the weekend so the message was not formally received.

House and Senate committees are expected to start work next week on the legislation.

Meanwhile, Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., has offered his own plan for saving gasoline. Speaking Friday in New Haven, Weicker proposed that gas stations be closed from 5 p.m. every Friday to 5 a.m. every Monday nationwide.

He called it "a conservation measure that will impact on all Americans rather than just the poorest few. Taxes won't stop unnecessary driving — no gas will."

Wine merchant Carter ancestor?

LONDON (AP) — A British genealogist believes he has traced President Carter's roots back to a 16th century London wine merchant.

Noel Currer-Briggs said in an Associated Press interview that he had traced the President to John Carter, a wine merchant whose son Thomas Carter was born in London in 1610 and sailed for Virginia in 1635.

"The Carter family was very prominent in the City of London," said Currer-Briggs, who is researching Carter's English connections for Debrett's, the peerage and genealogy publishers in London.

The President's direct ancestors had distant cousins who once owned Chequers, the country estate 25 miles west of London now used as a retreat for British prime ministers, Currer-Briggs said.

Currer-Briggs said Chequers was in the hands of the Carter family's remote cousins from about 1300 to 1700.

A similar genealogical trace was reported last Thursday by the Deseret News in Salt Lake City, Utah.

In a copyright story, the paper quoted a genealogist of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) as saying he had traced Carter through family wills to a Thomas Carter Sr., who arrived in Virginia from England in 1635. The Mormon genealogist said Thomas Carter was the President's "eight-great-grandfather."

President Carter is coming to London next week for an economic summit conference and plans to visit the ancestral home of George Washington in northeast England. The U.S. Embassy said there are no plans for him to see any of his ancestral areas, including Chequers.

Currer-Briggs, an expert on American-British genealogies, said he spent weeks wading through court records, wills, deeds, parish registers, records of the guild-like Company of Vintners and other documents.

Christ Church, the Carter family's parish church in the old City of London, now the capital's financial district, was bombed in World War II and records there were lost. But Currer-Briggs found in the Public Records Office the will of Thomas' vintner-father, John Carter, 1581-1630, and made the connection.

"I feel that John Carter is positive," he said, "although in a case of this kind you are very unlikely to get a direct, watertight proof."

Less sure is a connection Currer-Briggs has turned up with a Richard Carter, who was granted a manor at Garston, 15 miles northwest of the center of London, in 1530.

The area is now part of the town of Watford, and a bus garage occupies the likeliest site of the old manor. The name Garston Manor is preserved on a new development of low-cost public housing.

The Carters got in on the ground floor in the development of America, Currer-Briggs said.

"Virginia was the great place to invest your money in the 17th century," he said. "Most of the big London merchants had a hand in the founding of Virginia, sending their younger sons or nephews over there as agents or to set up plantations."

FERTILIZER SPILL — Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Donald L. Cox investigates an overturned trailer tank of liquid ammonia fertilizer. The 4,000 gallon ammonia spill was not considered hazardous. The mishap occurred Friday near the U.S. 35 and U.S. 22 intersections, southwest of Washington C.H. No one was injured in the mishap.

Deputies also check overturned truck mishap

Local man hurt in Ohio 753 crash

A 50-year old Washington C.H. man was admitted to Fayette County Memorial Hospital early Saturday morning for injuries suffered when his automobile overturned on Ohio 753, approximately one mile south of Miami Trace Road.

James A. Seymour, 940 Gregg St., was taken to the hospital's emergency room shortly after the 2:25 a.m. mishap by the Fayette County Life Squad. A condition report on Seymour was not available.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that Seymour was driving north on Ohio 753 when his auto failed to negotiate a right curve. The car went off the left side of the road and traveled 200 feet before crossing the road, overturning and striking a wooden fence.

Seymour reportedly got out of his car and was picked up by the driver of another auto. He was taken to a telephone and the life squad was contacted.

The Sheriff's Department cited Seymour for reckless operation.

ANOTHER FERTILIZER truck trailer overturned in Fayette County Friday afternoon. A similar mishap occurred Tuesday in Jeffersonville and it was feared that some village residents would have to be evacuated.

Friday's mishap caused less concern. The latest mishap occurred on a U.S. 35 entrance ramp off of U.S. 22-SW. The cargo of fertilizer was in liquid form and not in a gaseous state as was the case in Jeffersonville Tuesday. The fertilizer in both incidents were of ammonia base, but the liquid form is less dangerous.

The driver of the semi tractor-trailer rig, John D. Clark, 20, Frankfort, was not injured in the mishap. Only the tank and trailer portion of the rig overturned; the truck cab remained upright.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that Clark was turning onto the entrance ramp and the trailer came loose and overturned in a ditch.

Nearly 4,000 gallons of the liquid fertilizer spilled on the grass alongside of the road.

Drifting oil slick worries officials

MIAMI (AP) — A 60-mile-long oil slick floating just miles from Florida Keys beaches and the continent's only living coral reefs was slowly breaking up today, the Coast Guard said.

Wave action was helping to dissipate the oil, said Coast Guard spokesman Bill Acuff. Coast Guard officials were optimistic that the remnants of the slick would drift out to sea and away from the Florida Keys, he said.

"All the conditions are favorable for that right now," he said. "It's stationary and if it moves at all later, we think it will move away from the Keys."

The oil was located about seven miles from the nearest shore, but only two miles from some off-shore reefs of live coral. The amount of oil involved was not estimated.

Rear Adm. Robert W. Durfey, commander of the 7th Coast Guard

District, said Friday that if the oil "reaches the beaches there's always the possibility of significant damage to reefs and shores ... we would have a major problem."

Meanwhile, Coast Guard planes searched northwest toward New Orleans and northeast, up the Florida coast, collecting information on all tankers moving away from the spill.

For Monday's meeting

New school calendar on city board slate

Although a month still remains in the current school year, the Washington C.H. Board of Education will adopt the school calendar for the 1977-78 school year during Monday's regular meeting.

Superintendent Edwin Nestor has recommended a calendar which designates Tuesday, Aug. 30 as the first day of classes. Classes will end June 1, 1978.

State law requires that a calendar for the preceding school year be adopted at such an early date.

Also on the board's agenda are recommendations for appointments to the Community Education program executive committee. The recommendations have been made by the new chairman of the local program, Mrs. Kathy Lee.

Besides George (Louie) Kuhlwein who still has a year's term remaining on the committee, Mrs. Lee selected William Cupp and John Gruber.

Mrs. Lee's nominations must be finalized by the board as well as the Fayette County Board of Education.

Also on the agenda are four letters of resignations including one from Chief Kenneth Hays, who assists with the Naval Junior ROTC program at Washington Senior High School. Joddi Gillen, Shirley Wilson, and Vicky Conley have also submitted their resignations.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Washington C.H. Middle School superintendent's office.

Revco's welfare billings investigated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The board chairman of Revco D.S., Inc., has promised full cooperation with state officials probing the nationwide drug store chain's system of billing the welfare department for prescriptions.

Franklin County Prosecutor George C. Smith disclosed the probe Friday after investigators for the Highway Patrol, working with search warrants, picked up selected prescriptions at Revco retail stores in Shaker Heights, Cleveland, Chesapeake, Cincinnati and Columbus.

"We picked up the original prescriptions," Smith said. "Let's say only that there were hundreds" involved.

He said there was some evidence of double billing on prescriptions for welfare recipients but would not elaborate.

"The probe is throughout the state of Ohio," Smith said. "It is of Revco doing business in Ohio."

He said search warrants were obtained only for the five stores and would not disclose whether prescriptions will be sought from other stores.

Revco operates 159 drug stores in Ohio and nationwide has about 825 stores in 21 states from New York to Arizona.

Smith took jurisdiction of the case because the state welfare department pays bills from its Columbus office. He said the highway patrol initiated the investigation before turning it over to him.

Patrolmen and assistant prosecutors William Shimp and Judi Solon from Smith's office met in Cleveland Friday with Revco Board Chairman Lee C. Howley.

Howley said afterward that he promised full cooperation in the probe and said he wasn't aware of any problem until he talked with investigators.

"I talked with Mr. Howley and he indicated complete cooperation with our investigation," Smith said.

Smith noted that pharmacies are required by law to keep the prescriptions they fill.

He said Revco retail outlets provide billing information to the firm's home office at Twinsburg in northeast Ohio.

"The corporate headquarters puts the bills on computer tape and delivers the tape to the welfare department," Smith said. "There it is put through their computer and, based on billing, checks are issued."

State records show Revco was paid $1.9 million for welfare-related business in 1976.

OEA supports free speech

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Delegates to the Spring Representative Assembly of the Ohio Education Association declared Friday that school employees should have the right to organize or speak out in defense of their peers without fear of reprisal.

The convention adopted a resolution condemning school boards, administrators and other public officials who "attempt to fire school staff members for their leadership in school employe organizations or their forthrightness in questioning apparent violations of their terms of employment."

In other business, Sally Savage, a teacher in McDonald Local School District in Trumbull County, was re-elected OEA president, defeating challenger Mae K. Gray of Canton.

N. Eugene Brundige of Athens unseated incumbent vice president Carol Gerhard of the Vandalia-Butler schools.

Another resolution approved by delegates calls for involving teachers, parents and students in identifying disruptive behavior. It said no student has the right to interfere with the education of others.

Econogram

Economic growth at record rate

Economic growth was at a record 5.2 per cent "real" rate in the first quarter. This snap back from a 2.5 per cent last quarter rate is encouraging and was the major contributor. Real final sales—real GNP minus inventory change—trailed the fourth quarter. The weather and its effect on food prices was blamed for the jump in the inflation rate which accelerated to an annual rate of 6.6 per cent from 5.7 per cent the previous quarter. Construction was hampered by bad weather during the first quarter but should pick up the second quarter. Personal consumption expenditures have expanded.

Savings were down. This means confidence in the economy.

Farmhand values for the year ending Feb. 1, 1977 in U.S. continued their rapid upward escalation, though the uptrend was not consistent. The increase for the year averaged 17 per cent or about $66 per acre. This is the second largest increase in 50 years and is exceeded by only the 24 per cent rise in 1973. The Corn Belt and Lake States had the biggest increase. The rate of gain slowed in most states in the West and Northeast and a few states in the South. In the quarter from Nov. 1, 1976 and Feb. 1, 1977 there was a 6 per cent increase in average U.S. land prices. Ohio's average farmland price was $1,131 per acre which was $99 and 9.6 per cent above Nov. 1, 1976. Only Iowa and Illinois land prices increased over $100 per acre in the quarter while California land prices declined $6 per acre. States with land price increases totaling over 150 per cent in the five year period from 1972-1977 are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota.

Stocks report showed total soybean stocks on April 1 at 615,542,000 bushels or 28 per cent below one year earlier. A little over one-third of the total is on farms. Disappearance totaled 410,261,000 bushels in the Jan. 1 to March 31 period. Obviously, this rate of use cannot continue. All wheat stocks totaled 1.4 bil. bu. as of April 1. This is too much, as expected. Corn stocks were 3.27 bil. bu. and 12 per cent more than one year earlier. Two-thirds of the total stocks are on farms. Report results: soybeans bullish, wheat neutral and corn bearish.

Cattle on feed in 23 states as of April 1 totaled 10,618,000 head or 3 per cent less than one year earlier. Placements in feedlots were 5,597,000 head which was 3 per cent more than in the Jan.-Mar. period of 1976. Fed cattle marketings at 6,442,000 head were 2 per cent above the same quarter of 1976. Steers on feed in 23 states totaled 7,047,000 head and were 4 per cent below year ago. There were 3,523,000 heifers on feed. By weight groups as of April 1 there were 14 per cent more cattle on feed weighing 1,100 lbs. or more; 4 per cent less that weighed 700-899 lbs.; 1 per cent fewer in the 500-699 lb. range and; 1 per cent more that weighed under 500 lbs. This indicates some moderate price increases in the period ahead, especially if pastures in range areas recover sufficiently to reduce nonfed slaughter.

Tobacco domestic use and exports are expected to be less than the 1976 crop. This means a bigger carryover. Smaller quotas of 14 per cent for flue cured and 4 per cent for burley are expected to result in a 1977 crop slightly under last years 2.1 billion pounds. With the larger carryover the 1977-78 tobacco supply should be near the current year's total. Price support for eligible tobacco will average 7.3 per cent higher than last year.

Sodium nitrate probe revived

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department panel which has been studying the use sodium nitrate and nitrite in the nation's processed meat supply is being goaded into action.

A department spokesman said Thursday that the eight member panel of experts soon will be enlarged to at least 12 persons in hopes of injecting "some new life" into the group that has been meeting for three years.

THE SECOND annual Southern Ohio Graded Bull Sale in Hillsboro last Saturday produced some successful results for buyers and consignors. Seventy-four bulls were sold and averaged $717.77 per head. Ten head brought $1,000 or more with the tip price being $1,825 on a Charolais bull.

A report from the Ohio Performance Tested Bull Sale at Caldwell last Monday night indicated 127 bulls sold for an average over $900 per head.

Roses, and other things

By Howard Knutson

Continuing with the pests we can expect to appear this month. The white fly will be showing up on many of the flower and vegetable plants. This pest doesn't over-winter outdoors normally in Ohio, and certainly not with a winter such as we have just had; it's introduced anew every year, on the plants which you purchase for the gardens, coming in as eggs on greenhouse stock, or as the immature pupae forms. When you are looking at plants to buy, check the underside of the leaves—they will be seen as small, oval-shaped insects or white eggs. If you find any of these, you might want to look elsewhere for your plants. If you already have your plants, but not yet in the ground, you can make a tent of plastic material, such as a cleaner bag, and put the plants inside, along with a fresh insect strip; close this up, and leave it for a day or two. This will fumigate the plant, and kill the insects. If you have already planted the starts, and have these insects present, apply malathion at least four times, at intervals of five days.

A very common problem around this area is the flea beetle: a small, very black beetle which resembles a flea, even to the habit of hopping. This pest can cause severe damage to sweet corn while the plants are very young, so control is best started even before emergence. Calculate your approximate date of sprouting, from the date you planted plus the sprouting time for your variety. About a day before anticipated sprouting, begin to treat the soil with spectracide, carbaryl, or sevin, repeating five to seven times at intervals of five days, or less if rain occurs between.

If you grow grapes, there is also a grape flea beetle, very much resembling the corn flea beetle. Dependent upon temperature, the adult appears in April or May, and lays eggs which hatch into larvae during May or early June. These will cause damage to the leaves, but, more importantly, to the young buds. The most effective control is to use a complete fruit dust or spray containing sevin, carbaryl, methoxychlor, or malathion, at regular intervals according to labelled directions.

Appearance of a small, fly-like insect the first half of the month signals arrival of the cabbage maggot; this pest will attack the entire cole family, including broccoli, cauliflower, and Brussel sprouts; also radish, turnip, beets, and celery, so you might consider planting all of these closely enough together that you can treat all of them at the same time. The moth will lay eggs at the base of the plant, in a few days, and feed on the roots of the host plant for about a month. The entire generation cycle requires six to eight weeks, dependent upon temperature, so you can expect about three generations in a season. Control is best started at the time of planting, watering the plant in with a solution of spectracide, and repeating this solution every ten days almost until time for harvest.

Soon we will begin seeing signs of the eastern tent caterpillar, especially in flowering trees such as apple, cherry, and crab; this is a distinctly separate pest from that which forms tents in trees in the fall. The larvae overwinter as eggs on the tree, and begin to feed as soon as leaves begin to appear. The larvae fall to the ground, pupate in the soil, and emerge at night as adult moths, flying back to the trees to lay the eggs for the following season. By early June they usually have disappeared, which leads many people to believe that they have been destroyed by birds; by golly, next spring they are right back, again. You can control them with repeated sprays of a product containing 'spectracide' or methoxychlor, beginning at greet-tip stage, or there is available a natural control, Bacillus thuringensis, which is harmless to birds, animals, and humans, but kills most of the insects which undergo a caterpillar-like stage during their life cycle. This product is available under the trade names Dipel and Thuricide, but may be a little difficult to find.

In regards to the product, B. thuringensis, I'll pass along some information, just as comment of personal observation, and not as a recommendation, because I haven't seen recent labeling on the product. Several years ago I used this product for some flowering shrubs around my rose gardens and my vegetable garden; it not only controlled the tent caterpillar, but for the season I was free of the worm-type pests in both the roses and the vegetables, such as the green rose slug, the cabbage worm, the bean beetle, and the tomato worms. Maybe it was just coincidence!

A CHANGE FROM THE USUAL..... Idaho Porcupines and Cascade Potato Casserole make potatoes special party fare. Both can be made ahead of time, and baked just before serving.

Potatoes from Idaho make special party fare

Seems when you entertain, there are a million things to think of besides what foods you're going to serve your guests. Clever hostesses simplify; the easier it is for you, the more you can enjoy your own party.

There are a lot of practical short cuts to entertaining and with a little imagination you can plan special dishes that will save you time and effort.

Take processed potatoes, for example. With a box of instant mashed potatoes on your cupboard shelf, you've got the basis of Idaho Porcupines. These "prickly creatures" have a light corn flake crumb coating that blankets a warm heart of potatoes flavored with Cheddar cheese, parsley and nutmeg. This do-ahead vegetable can be fixed early in the day, refrigerated, and baked just before serving.

Another good idea from an Idaho cook is Cascade Potato Casserole. Condensed cream of celery soup and frozen hash brown potatoes are combined for this time-saving dish. The meltingly rich sauce requires no cooking, and the potatoes are ready-to-use. This flavorful recipe is perfect for company, and it's so easy to fix you'll want to serve it often for the family too.

Both our potato ideas are made with processed potatoes from Idaho.

IDAHO PORCUPINES

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
Instant Idaho mashed potatoes for 6 servings
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon pepper

1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 eggs
2 tablespoons water
1 1/2 cups corn flakes
In a small skillet melt butter, add onion and cook until tender; set aside. Prepare instant mashed potatoes according to package directions, reducing water by 1/2 cup. Add onion, salt, nutmeg, pepper, cheese and parsley. Beat in 1 egg (the mixture should be fairly dry). Shape large spoonfuls of mixture into balls. Beat remaining egg with water. Crush corn flakes lightly. Coat the potato balls with egg mixture, roll in corn flakes and place on a greased baking sheet. Bake in 400 degrees F. oven 2 to 5 minutes. YIELD: 6 servings. (12 porcupines).

CASCADE POTATO CASSEROLE
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese at room temperature
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 cups Idaho frozen hash brown potatoes
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
In a small skillet melt butter, add onion, and cook until onion is tender. In large bowl, beat undiluted soup and cheese together until smooth; stir in salt, pepper, onion and potatoes. Turn into a 1 1/2-quart casserole or baking dish. Top with shredded cheese. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven for 1 hour. YIELD: 6 servings.

Mrs. Niehous withdraws offer for $500,000 reward

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Saying it no longer served a useful purpose, the wife of kidnapped American executive William F. Niehous has withdrawn her offer of a nearly $500,000 reward for information on the whereabouts of her husband.

Donna Niehous of Toledo, Ohio, announced her decision in a letter written to a Caracas daily newspaper reporter who has closely followed the 14-month-old kidnap case.

"On Aug. 11, 1976, my husband's 45th birthday, I offered to pay 2 million bolivars ($465,000), collected from my family and friends, to anyone who could provide me with substantive information about the whereabouts of my husband," Mrs. Niehous said.

The offer was "made in good faith and in the hopes that someone in Venezuela would help me, must now be withdrawn," she added in the letter written from Perrysburg, Ohio.

"I continue to hold the strong belief that my husband is alive," she wrote. "My family and friends continue to stand by me in this belief.

"However, eight months have passed since my offer was made and no one has come forward to help me. There has been no authentic contact from the kidnapers or my husband, and it is obvious that the offer of such a substantial sum of money no longer serves any useful purpose."

Niehous, Venezuelan operations manager for the Toledo-based Owens-Illinois glass manufacturing group, was seized from his suburban Caracas home Feb. 27, 1976, by seven armed men.

McClain, leaves the surprising Panthers atop the heap in the league. Riley went the distance in the shutout, striking out three and walking just one.

Brett Allen, who also pitched a fine game for Circleville, took the heart-breaking loss. He gave up the lone run in the game in the first inning but got tough after that.

Allen gave up just six hits to the Panthers while striking out one and walking two.

No one was an actual standout in the hitting department for Trace as Shane Riley, Joe Black, Sam Grooms, Neil Spears, Dennis Combs and Shawn Riley all had one hit each for the total of six.

The Panthers collected their only run in the first inning after two were out. Black singled and then scored on a double by Grooms.

The Panthers have until Tuesday to rest. Then, they meet Washington C.H. in the rescheduled game from earlier this week.

DEWEESE READY WITH THE TAG — Jeff DeWeese of Washington C.H. gets ready to put the tag on sliding Jimmy Everhart of Greenfield McClain. Everhart made it to the plate ahead of DeWeese's tag and McClain went on to win the important SCOL game, 11-7.

Blue Lions lose a pair; 11-7 game and SCOL lead

The Washington C.H. baseball team lost two things last night.

First, they dropped a league game to the surging Greenfield McClain Tigers 11-7. Second, they dropped a game off the league pace set by Miami Trace, who beat Circleville 1-0.

The Blue Lions got down 4-0 before putting runs on the board in the fourth inning. A five-run fifth for McClain all but decided the game, making it 9-4 at that time.

The Lions fought back with one more in the sixth and four in the seventh. But, they couldn't recover from the big deficit.

Mark Heiny, who pitched the first four innings-plus, took the loss for Court House. He gave up nine runs, five of which were earned, on five hits. He struck out one and walked four.

Dee Hart Foster came on to relieve in the fifth and finished the game. He gave up the final two runs on four hits while striking out four and walking three.

Brett Robinson won the game for the Tigers. He went the distance, giving up all seven runs, only three of which were earned. He struck out two and walked the same number.

Washington didn't score until the fourth inning when Jeff DeWeese singled and Jeff Elliott deposited a pitch over the center field fence for a two-run homer. Elliott is the Lions' most productive hitter, averaging well

Later, in the Lion sixth, the DeWeese-Elliott tandem was at it again. DeWeese tripled and Elliott singled him home for the Lions' third run.

By the time, however, the Tigers were leading 9-3 on the basis of a big fifth inning that sealed the game for them. First baseman Dale Easter walked to lead off and catcher John Dettwiller singled. An error loaded the bases for a walk and a two-run single by Joe Beatty. After two were out, another error cost the Lions two more runs to give McClain five runs on just two hits.

Washington made a valiant comeback try in the seventh after being down 11-3. Mark Burke reached on an error and then scored when Jeff Estep made it to second on another error.

Estep raced home when Scott Johnson reached on yet another error but Johnson was cut down at third trying to stretch the play. Then, Elliott doubled and was chased to the plate by a single on the part of Todd Terrell. Terrell later scored, after Kevin Bonecutter had singled and Tom Dean reached base on Greenfield's fourth error of the inning. But, Robinson finally got the outs and Court went down, 11-7.

The Lions have a full schedule next week. They begin sectional tournament play on Monday against Vinton County

Registration for Jr. Champ lopsided

With only one week remaining of registration in the annual Fayette County Junior Champ track meet, the registrations are running above last year's total.

However, the entries are heavily weighted in just two or three divisions. The junior boy division (ages 9-10) have the most entries with 32 participants. Prep boys (ages 11-12) and pee-wee boys (ages 7-8) are also in good shape with 28 and 27 contestants, respectively.

However, the intermediate boys (ages 13-14) have only nine registered while interest is absent in the senior boy class (ages 15-18) as only one entrant has signed up.

The girls are suffering also in three divisions. Junior girls (ages 9-10) have just 10 signed up while senior girls (ages 15-18) have only two and intermediate girls (ages 13-14) have only one.

This track meet is open to all youth of Fayette County. Members of the Washington Senior High and Miami Trace high school track teams are eligible.

In addition, all winners will be considered for the Ohio Jaycee Junior Champ meet to be held at Mount Union College in Alliance on July 15 and 16.

Twelve Fayette County youths traveled to the state meet last year. They were Jack Persinger, Jon Jon Thomas, Scott Geyer, Bob Fridley, Mark Forsythe, Dean Faris, Greg Cobb, Dan Gifford, Bill Hanners, Dewey Foster, Lonnie Hixon and Brian Johnson.

Gifford and Foster, both members of their respective high school track teams last year, picked up medals at the competition. Gifford took second in the high jump while Foster placed third in the half-mile run.

The local meet will be held this year at the Miami Trace track facility on Sunday, May 22. The competition will begin at 1:30 p.m. following opening ceremonies.

Miami Trace track coach Bill Beatty will be serving as the meet manager while Miami Trace athletic director Richard Hill will serve as the meet coordinator. Assisting them will be Washington C.H. track coach Rick Crooks and Washington C.H. athletic director Jon Creamer. Registration blanks are still available

Dodgers win behind 'Cey, Hey' kid

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Cey, Hey! Look who's making a name for himself.

Ron Cey of the Los Angeles Dodgers, already nicknamed "The Penguin," has no doubt earned some kind of a new sobriquet like Willie Mays' famous "Say Hey Kid" the way he's hitting this April.

Off to the best start of his career, the bull-shouldered third baseman established a major league record Friday night by driving in his 28th run of the month while leading the Dodgers to a 4-0 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Cey, who drove in his latest run with an inartistic infield out, is sailing right along with the red-hot Dodgers, who lead the National League West by seven games.

Cey previously shared the April RBI record with Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell, who drove in 27 runs in 1974, and Reggie Jackson, who knocked in 27 for Oakland the same year.

Cey entered the 1977 season with 361 lifetime RBI in four full seasons, including a career-high 101 in 1975.

Cey's record-setting run batted in helped the Dodgers win their 14th game in their last 15 starts and their 16th against only three for the season.

In other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-2; the Houston Astros whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 11-3; the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Atlanta Braves 5-2; the Philadelphia Phillies edged the San Francisco Giants 6-5 and the New York Mets routed the San Diego Padres 9-2.

Tommy John and Charlie Hough combined to blank Montreal on 10 hits as the Dodgers won their seventh straight game. Rick Monday singled home the Dodgers' first run off loser Don Stanhouse, 1-3, and Cey's infield out drove home the second.

Reds 3, Cubs 2
Woodie Fryman and Rawly Eastwick combined for a seven-hitter and George Foster singled in the winning run as Cincinnati defeated Chicago. Fryman settled down after a shaky start to even his record at 2-2.

Eastwick was summoned with two outs in the ninth after George Mitterwald doubled. He was greeted by Larry Bittner's pinch-hit single, then retired Ivan DeJesus on a fly ball to post his fourth save. Foster delivered a one-out single off loser Bill Bonham, 2-2, to break a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning.

Astros 11, Pirates 3
Floyd Bannister, top pick in baseball's free agent draft last June, gained his first major league pitching victory and Joe Ferguson hit two home runs to lead Houston over Pittsburgh. Bannister, a product of Arizona State University, allowed 11 hits but pitched the full nine innings in his first major league start. He had been 0-1 in two relief appearances this season.

Cardinals 5, Braves 2
Hits by Hector Cruz and Ted Simmons highlighted a four-run St. Louis first inning, sending the Cardinals over error-plagued Atlanta. Victim of the early Cardinal uprising was Atlanta knuckleballer Phil Niekro, who was touched for three hits and hurt by two errors.

Phillies 6, Giants 5
Pitcher Steve Carlton belted the decisive run-scoring single in the sixth as Philadelphia edged San Francisco. The Phillies scored three times in the sixth to overcome a 4-3 San Francisco lead. Carlton's single capped the rally, driving in Philadelphia's sixth run.

Mets 9, Padres 2

Dave Kingman drove in six runs with a pair of three-run homers as New York beat San Diego 9-2 and handed the Padres their sixth straight loss. Kingman, who was second in the National League home run race last year with 37, got his fifth of the season in the first inning to put the Mets ahead 3-0.

In the fifth inning, Kingman broke the game open when he sent Padre relief pitcher Dave Freisleben's first pitch into the left-field seats to put New York ahead 8-1.

HONORED AT BANQUET — Joe Black of Miami Trace holds a plaque symbolizing his honor of being named the South Central Ohio League's scholar-athlete by the Gottfried Chapter of the National Football Federation and Hall of Fame. Black, along with other recipients from surrounding leagues, was honored at a $25 a plate dinner Thursday evening. Pictured with Black are Miami Trace principal Curtis Fleisher on the left and head football coach Fred Zechman on the right.

Errors cost WCH

Washington C.H. was outgunned for the second straight game as they dropped a 13-11 contest to Hillsboro.

The Blue Lions, with half their team hitting over .400, is murdered with fielding errors. Fourteen miscues attributed to the Indians' 13 runs.

The loser for Washington was Debbie Kingery who gave up all 13 runs on 12 hits. She walked four. Diane Musser won the game for Hillsboro, yielding 11 runs on 19 hits and giving up one walk.

The Lions, now 2-4 on the season, will host Miami Trace on Monday.

Shadow Warrior wins at Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Shadow Warrior broke from fifth in the stretch to win the featured mile trot at Lebanon Raceway in 2:10 Friday night and paid $5.60, $5.60 and $3.60.

Marmar Susan placed, $5.40 and $3.60 and Little Big Horn, third, $3.20. Billie Barrett and Ms. Tizwiz, 1-2, paid $60.60 in the double.

Tanana, free agents beat Orioles in 11

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

You couldn't blame Frank Tanana if he was delighted when the California Angels grabbed Joe Rudi and Don Baylor in the free agent pickings last winter.

"When you go against (Baltimore's Jim) Palmer, you know you can't give up many runs," Tanana said. "In the past, if he got ahead, we were done. But with the hitters we have now, the game is never out of reach. They've come through time and time again."

Both Rudi and Baylor came through Friday night and Tanana was the recipient of their heavy hitting, winning his fourth game without a loss as the Angels edged the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 in 11 innings.

Rudi's home run in the ninth pulled

Riverfront no movie set

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds General Manager Dick Wagner said he does not plan to prevent movie companies from making films at Riverfront Stadium but they will have to explain everything beforehand.

Wagner refused permission for a television film company to shoot last year at Riverfront so the company made "Murder At the World Series," at the Houston Astrodome.

"ABC approached us to do the television movie here last year. They said the shooting of cameras, not guns, wouldn't bother our fans. But they wouldn't tell us what they wanted to do, what the plot was about. So finally, we turned them down."

The movie dealt with the possibility of terrorism taking place at a sporting event, a theme of which Wagner said he is wary. The film had a psychopath who kidnaps and threatens to murder the wife of a player on the Houston Astros during the World Series. Wagner feels it does not take much to imagine such fantasies, although perhaps not as dire coming true.

"We have a lot of things happen at the stadium that I wouldn't want to talk about," Wagner said. "We've had a number of bomb threats, but we have a regular procedure we initiate when that happens and to my knowledge we've never had a serious relationship between a threat and an actual bomb."

"We worry about it, sure. I think since the stadium has opened in 1970 we have increased the attention paid to security by five or six times. But this is happening at other public places too."

"I don't know if I'm knowledgeable enough to say this, but I think studies have shown that a lot of violent television shows prompt more violence."

This violence-by-suggestion theory, however, was not the reason the Reds rejected ABC's request.

"We are not interested in anything that might take away from the family sport we are presenting on the field."

Helping you succeed is our only concern.

Most nursing schools distribute caps to graduates

Some nursing schools will present their new graduates with a different cap than the one that is worn during student days. Other schools distribute caps to the freshman students and these same caps may be in wear for the remaining nursing career.

Nurses might send back to their home schools for additional caps, as the old ones wear out. If the cap's design is simple enough, a clever seamstress could possibly make a duplicate. Most caps can be washed and ironed with a little special extra starching. If a nurse is careful in handling a cap, it may stay clean for several months. But, some caps can not be "done up" by the nurse herself, although a Chinese laundry (if you can find one) can solve this problem. Sometimes it is necessary to send the caps back to the hospital from where the nurse graduated for special laundry needs. There, the caps are done by special people with special starches and special ironers. Some caps are so complicated in design that there is no way they can be cleaned so they must be discarded.

Precarious as they appear, caps do stay on — usually. They are held in place only due to the originality of the wearer. Older nursing students, of "big sisters" usually pass on down the tricks of the trade showing an assortment of novel methods for keeping the cap on such as paper clips, rubber and metal bands, hairpins, or bobby pins, band-aids, tape, safety pins, small combs, and hatpins. The latter is then handy for self protection if the need should occur.

Another fact that might not be known is that each school of nursing also presents the new graduate with a school pin. This she will wear upon her uniform with as much pride as the cap upon her head. No other jewelry should adorn her uniform. Neither should the nurse wear rings (other than a wedding band), earrings, or bracelets or heavy make-up, perfumes, or bright nail polish.

There has never been a standard cap for all nurses. If a nurse joins a military service she will wear the required cap for that particular branch of service. A nurse sometimes chooses to continue wearing this cap after her discharge.

A registered nurse would never wear a cap from any school that she didn't graduate from.

In summary, some form of nursing care has probably been practiced for thousands of years. For example, the early Hebrews and Egyptians first organized women, later called midwives, who assisted at births.

Nurses first organized in early groups during the early Christian times. Noblewomen, including the wives of emperors, helped care for the ill in ancient Rome. During the Crusades, military orders of monks and knights tended the sick and wounded.

Between the years 1600 and 1850, which is known as the Dark period of nursing, untrained and undesirable people did not understand disease and many who tended the sick also died. Hospitals had such a high death rate that the wealthy would never consent to being treated in one. So, since the turn of the century, nursing had made great strides. Aren't we glad and thankful we live in today's world?

We hope these articles have given everyone a little more insight into nursing. Maybe those caps won't be that mysterious and intriguing piece of cloth on a nurse's head the next time you see one. We feel the better informed people are about matters, the more we will understand each other and the better able we will be to serve. Sometimes girls will enter a school of nursing not realizing the kind of cap their graduates wear. No, we don't want any future nurse to pick her school this way. If you want a good show of caps, go to the Mahan Building on Tuesday, May 3 from 6 a.m. until 10 a.m. for the largest display of nursing caps any place during the "CAP-tivating '77" Nurse's May Day break-breakfast.
